CALL FOR POSTERS: 2024 Montana History Conference

The Montana Historical Society invites proposals for undergraduate* and graduate student poster presentations at the Montana History Conference, September 26-28, 2024, in Great Falls at the Heritage Inn. Poster presentations offer students the opportunity to present research in a concise visual format and encourage professional networking at Montana's largest annual gathering of historians.

We welcome proposals on topics relating to Western history (especially Montana history) and will give special consideration to posters focusing on Great Falls or Central Montana history regional history, women's history, ethnic communities, industrial history, historic preservation, archaeology, and Indigenous history. Completed research, preliminary findings or first phases of long-term projects can also be presented as posters. Students are also encouraged to present research even if they are not the principal researcher for the project, i.e. research done under the guidance of a faculty member.
